Free Download Addictive Drums 2. Addictive Drums 2. XLN Audio has now released its own commercial version of Addictive Drums 2. The price of gold, silver and the US Dollar has been going up for a while now, but it seems to me that the selling of gold and silver by the US and Chinese governments have been growing like crazy. Despite this selling, gold and silver still manage to hold up to recent increases as they are fundamentally based on something the governments cannot manipulate. In the last few years, I have been witnessing the same scenario being repeated over and over again: 3-4 months go by and the price of gold and silver doesn't start rising. Then when gold and silver start to sell off, the US and Chinese governments join in with a flurry of buying and then keep on buying. There seems to be a very specific group of people in the media who are nearly always on the same page with what the US or Chinese government wants. I mean, the price of gold and silver has been going up for close to a year now. There are no signs of a correction in sight, but the manipulators say that there is a correction coming. Why are they so persistent on waiting for a correction? Well... one of the reasons is that they plan on selling off the gold and silver that they bought. To manipulate a market in your favor, you first need to buy it... then sell it! In the next year or so, I think the US and Chinese governments
